Mascha-Frank.

Miss Margaret Mascha of this city and Bernard Frank of Chicago were married at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Peter and Paul church, Rev. Wm. Redding performing the ceremony. They were accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Mascha, sister of the bride, and Matthias Meyer as bridesmaid and groomsmen. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mascha, in the town of Rockford.

The bride is a well known and popular young lady who has many friends in this vicinity who will wish her a long and happy wedded life.

The newly wed pair will make their home in Chicago where the groom is employed in the Kimball organ factory as flutist.

Mrs. J. H. Noyes gave a novelty shower at her home for Miss Margaret Meyer in honor of her approaching marriage to Russell Duesberg. Miss Duesberg received many fine gifts and a large number of guests were present.

GRAND RAPIDS WINS FROM GREEN BAY

Taking the Bismarck from Green Bay into camp the final score being 3 to 0. Foster's pitching proved too much for the Bismarcks, the strong team from Green Bay.

Foster pitched about out ball and the team as a whole played grand ball behind him, only 3 errors being made and they did not amount to anything. Summerville got 3 safeties and 3 times at base scored 3 runs. Nelson, Youngman and Fellows also hit safe when his mound runs. The boys played as though they meant it and were rewarded for their efforts getting 3 runs across the plate, while the Green Bay boys were endeavoring to connect with Foster's curves.

The Bismarcks have a fast bunch of boys. The catch of 3rd baseman Walz of a ball off Talbot's bat was seldom if ever before seen on the local diamond.

A perfect throw to the plate by J. Talbot getting Fellows was another play which we must give credit to Grand Rapids was against a strong aggregation and only good pitching and good batting could beat such teams.

Next Sunday Stevens Point comes here for a game. Come on you base ball fans and root for the home team. They can't beat Foster.

The same by innings.

1st Inning—Talbot hit the second ball pitched for a single. J. Talbot's single hit to second, Deleforge singled but Talbot was held at 3rd, out standing. Wittig flew to Groves who caught the ball out of the sand making 3rd out.

Grand Rapids—Summerville singled, Talbot struck out, Summerville caught first. Brennan popped to pitcher.

2nd—P. Deleforge out via Fellows. Groves out. Walz flew to center. Darby hit by pitcher and solo home. Groves was safe on Youngman's bunt. Darby going to 3rd. Lardinois struck out.

3rd Inning—Talbot hit the second ball pitched for a single. J. Talbot's single hit to second, Deleforge singled but Talbot was held at 3rd, out standing. Wittig flew to Groves who caught the ball out of the sand making 3rd out.

Eagles at Marshfield.

Last Thursday was certainly one of the warmest in the history of Marshfield, both literally and figuratively speaking. The weather was not to begin with, and if there were any cool places the boys proceeded to warm them up.

Grand Rapids was there in full force, the band and the local Aerie and their friends going up on a special train at 7:15 in the morning. The Aerie was in all nicely uniformed in white and there was a good turnout.

The parade occurred at about 2:30 in the afternoon and those who saw it said that this feature alone was well worth the price of admission, there being several bands in line and each Aerie being uniformed, if not only, and some of them in quite an elaborate and gorgeous manner.

Grand Rapids Eagles gave some of the money that was being up for prizes, they taking the second prize of $100 for the second largest number of uniformed Eagles in the parade with band.

Chas. Gleason won the $10 prize for being the shortest Eagle in the parade, while the $10 prize for the longest Eagle was won by Winfield Scott of Rudolph, who is a member of the local Aerie, and who weighed the heaviest at about 310 pounds. Grand Rapids also came near winning the prize for having the Eagle with the longest tail, but Mendels had a man there who lost our production in this line by about an inch and a half.

The ball game in the forenoon between Stevens Point and Grand Rapids resulted in a victory for the Stevens Point team by a score of 5 to 1. This was some what of a disappointment to the locals, as they had firmly made up their minds to win before going up.

Taken altogether it was a most successful affair and is said to be one of the biggest days Marshfield has ever seen.

Sunday Law a Farce.

Madison, Wis., June 28 (Special)—The big act in the legislature yesterday this week has been the Sunday closing bill. It has kept them all on needles and pins and again some very clever politics has been played. Hardly this morning a bill was passed and pushed through, becoming a law on June 28, closing all groceries, meat markets, notions and furnishing stores of every kind on the Sabbath. As soon as the hundreds of small merchants about the state realized the full import of this law there was a great wail and immediately steps were taken to secure its repeal. Assemblyman Blicher secured the passage of a joint resolution permitting him to introduce a bill for its repeal and this will be made a matter for this week's session. Furthermore, it is understood that Gov. McGovern will step in and send a special message to the law makers asking to have the measure repealed.

The local sentiment over this bill does not come true to the surface for the newspapers only quote some of the larger dealers and they are entirely satisfied with the new regulation. They would just as soon have these little stores closed on Sundays for it would mean better business for them on the week days. Everything sold by these "neighborhood" stores on Sunday lessens the business for the big fellows. So they are "the lighted."

But the rural merchants and the outdoor proprietors in the cities realize that they are going to lose heavily by such a law and they are sitting up on their hind legs and making themselves heard. The law is certain to be repealed.

Sunday closing legislation of all kinds seems to be in disfavor in Wisconsin.

City Property to Exchange for Farms.

Geography by a New Method.

Thomas A. Edison is quoted as saying that geography will be taught by means of moving pictures as soon as the machines and films for producing them become inexpensive enough. He favors such teaching, asserting that he can teach more geography in fifteen minutes with the moving picture machine than the schools, as now equipped, can teach in as many years.

Will Sell Horses.

Andy Warner and Henry Wakley is the new firm which was organized last week for the buying and selling of all kinds of horses. These gentlemen have rented the F. J. Moore barn on Third Ave., north and have some nice work horses and drivers which they purchased in Appleton the past week.

Chilly Last Night.

Reports from the marines are to the effect that mercury registered as low as 23 degrees in one place, and there were various spots where it got as low as 35 and 37. Most of the cranberry men were out looking after their growing crops.

John Berger, owner of the Belvidere farm in the town of Sigel, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune office on Monday. Mr. Berger is enjoying a visit from his brother who resides in Oklahoma and whom he had not seen for twenty-five years. After his visit here Mr. Berger will go to England where he will visit relatives for a time.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK OPENS JULY FIFTH

The postal savings department of the Grand Rapids office will be opened for business on Wednesday, July 5, at which time all of the necessary paraphernalia will be on hand for the new order of things.

A government inspector who has charge of this branch of the work was in the city on Monday giving the final instructions to Postmaster McDonald and his assistants, so that when the new order of things is inaugurated it is not expected that there will be a hitch in the working of things.

The rules governing the deposit of money are very simple, so that even a child can understand them. The smallest amount that can be deposited is 10 cents, and upon a person depositing this sum a card is given to him on which there are places to stick ten stamps, or one dollar in all. This card is transferable, but when it is filled with a dollar's worth of stamps the postmaster issues a certificate and takes up the card and cancels it. The certificate is not transferable and can only be cashed by the depositor, or his heirs, in case of death.

The amount that can be deposited in any one month by a person is limited to $100, and the amount in a year is limited to $500. The government pays 2 percent on the deposits and when a depositor has $100 on deposit he may exchange it for a government bond, which bears interest at 2 1/2 percent.

Where the postal savings banks have been established elsewhere they have proven quite popular, and there is no reason why the local bank should not also be a good thing.

$1,000 Bonus for a Good Road.

The annual good roads contest for roads leading out of Rockburg came to an end on Saturday. For several years the Rockburg Industrial association has raised a fund of $1,000 to be given as a bonus to the farmers living on the various roads leading from that city who would subscribe the largest sums in cash and labor to be donated for use on the public roads in addition to the sum raised by the towns. This year the contest was between the "East road" and the "Loganville road." The latter road winning by $132. The farmers living along this road subscribed $2,382 in work and cash and will receive the $1,000 bonus offered by the business men of Rockburg. To this sum will be added $2,000 raised by the town of Rockburg, $2,000 contributed by the county and about $1,000, the appropriation of the state aid. These sums when added to the money already raised for this road will complete nine miles of excellent macadam road, connecting Rockburg with Loganville.

A Battle Royal.

No one can afford to miss the big game of baseball that is to be played here next Sunday between Stevens Point and Grand Rapids. The local team has been greatly strengthened, and there is no question as to their being a fight for the title. Hence, the great hot local pitcher of Oakdale, who has been hired by the local club and will pitch the rest of the season. We cannot support this last team without the help of every fan. Turn out.

Game called at 2:30 sharp so as to allow the Stevens Point boys to return on the 5:30 train.

Grand Rapids will play at Stevens Point on Tuesday, July 11th.

Notice.

—On and after July the 1st we will be open only on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings. The other evenings our office will be closed. We have installed an early and late laundry chute as customers. Putting the laundry down can put their name on the package and drop it in the chute, and we will do the rest.

Foundry Team Beaten.

The Johnson & Hill Co's. ball team put it all over the boys from the country in a ball game at the high school grounds on Sunday afternoon. Ray Johnson was the star player of the day, fanning out 10 of the heavy hitting row workers and making two home runs. We understand that a return game will be played later in the season.

Wild Hay for Sale.

I will have about two hundred tons of blue joint for sale. One dollar per ton standing. The hay is heavy and will run about three tons per acre. All on good road. Alo's Huser, Alden.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

County Clerk Fred Eberhart issued a marriage license the past week to Michael Zabawa of this city and Miss Katherine Capross of the town of Sigel.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Francher of Racine are visiting at the Olaf. Kellogg home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Witter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Weid, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Helford and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Babcock were to Wausau on Monday where they attended the bankers meeting held in that city. Mr. Gorgias addressed the meeting on the commission form of government.

The city trustees have been at work on Eighth street south of the fair grounds during the past week. A part of the sand has been removed from the surface and the roadway will be filled in with clay. There were several blocks there that had been in deplorable condition for several years past and the improvement will be greatly appreciated by those who have to use the road.

Miss Agnes Godin of Stevens Point and George Ebert of this city were married this morning at nine o'clock by Rev. Fred Stiff at the Congregational parsonage. They were attended by Miss Stella Hewitt and Emil Kern. After a short wedding tour they will go to housekeeping in the Ted Chapman house on the west side. The Tribune joins with numerous friends in wishing them a happy wedded life.

Miss Bernice Johnson, who has been teaching physical culture at the River Falls Normal school the past year, arrived home on Saturday to spend her summer vacation with her mother, Mrs. Nels Johnson.

Grand Rapids Wins From Green Bay

Grand Rapids, Wis., June 28 (Special).—Taking the Bismarks from Green Bay into camp the final score being 5 to 0, Foster's pitching proved too much for the Bismarks, the strong Semi pro, team from Green Bay.

Poster pitched shut out ball and the team as a whole played grand ball behind him, play 3 errors being made and they did not amount to anything. Summerville got 3 safeties and of 3 times at base scored 3 runs. Nelson, Youngman and Fellows also hit safe when his meant runs. The boys played as though they meant it and were rewarded for their efforts getting 5 runs across the pan, while the Green Bay boys were endeavoring to connect with Foster's curves.

The Bismarks have a fast bunch of boys. The catch of 3rd baseman Walz of a foul off Talbot's bat was one seldom if ever before seen on the local diamond.

A perfect throw to the plate by J. DuBois getting Fellows was another play which we must give credit to Grand Rapids was against a strong aggregation and only a good pitching and good batting could beat such teams.

Eagles at Marshfield.

Last Thursday was certainly one of the warmest in the history of Marshfield, both literally and figuratively speaking. The weather was not to begin with, and if there were any cool places the boys proceeded to warm them up.

Grand Rapids was there in full force, the band and the local Aerie and their friends going up on a special train at 7:15 in the morning. The Eagles were all nicely uniformed in white and there was a good turnout. The parade occurred at about 2:30 in the afternoon and those who saw it said that this feature alone was well worth the price of admission, there being several bands in line and each Aerie being uniformed, 4 differently, and some of them in quite an elaborate and gorgeous manner.

Grand Rapids Eagles got some of the money that was hung up for prizes, they taking the second prize of $100 for the second largest number of uniformed Eagles in the parade with band.

Chas. Giese won the $50 prize for being the shortest Eagle in the parade, while the $10 prize for the fastest Eagle was won by Winfield Scott of Randolph, who is a member of the local Aerie, and who tipped the beam at about 340 pounds. Grand Rapids also came near winning the prize for having the Eagle with the biggest feet, but Alvin had a man there who beat our production in this line by about an inch and a half.

The ball game in the forenoon between Stevens Point and Grand Rapids resulted in a victory for the Stevens Point team by a score of 5 to 1. This was somewhat of a disappointment to the locals, as they had firmly made up their minds to win before going up.

Taken altogether it was a most successful affair and is said to be one of the biggest days Marshfield has ever seen.

Sunday Law a Farce.

Madison, Wis., June 28 (Special).—The big act in the legislature yesterday this week has been the Sunday closing bill. It has kept them all on needles and pins and again some very clever politics has been played. Earlier this month a bill was passed, signed and published, becoming a law on June 20, closing all groceries, meat markets, notion and furnishing stores of every kind on the Sabbath.

As soon as the hundreds of small merchants about the state realized the full import of this law there was a great wail and immediately steps were taken to secure its repeal. Assemblyman Biehler secured the passage of a joint resolution permitting him to introduce a bill for its repeal and this will be made a matter for this week's session. Furthermore, it is understood that Gov. McGovern will step in and send a special message to the law makers asking to have the measure wiped out.

The real sentiment over this bill does not come truly to the surface for the newspapers only quote some of the larger dealers and they are entirely satisfied with the new regulation. They would just as soon have these little stores closed on Sundays for it would mean better business for them on the week days. Everything sold by these "neighborhood" stores on Sunday lessens the business for the big fellows. So they are "delighted."

But the rural merchants and the outside proprietors in the cities realize that they are going to lose heavily by such a law and they are sitting up on their hind legs and making themselves heard. The law is certain to be repealed.

Sunday closing legislation of all kinds seems to be in disfavor in Wisconsin.

Geography by a New Method.

Thomas A. Edison is quoted as saying that geography will be taught by means of moving pictures as soon as the machines and films for producing them become inexpensive enough. He favors such teaching, asserting that he can teach more geography in fifteen minutes with the moving picture machine than the schools, as now equipped, can teach in as many years.

Will Sell Horses.

Andy Wasser and Henry Wakley is the new firm which was organized last week for the buying and selling of all kinds of horses. These gentlemen have rented the F. J. Moore barn on Third Ave., north and have some nice work horses and drivers which they purchased in Appleton the past week.

Chilly Last Night.

Reports from the marshes are to the effect that mercury registered as low as 23 degrees in one place, and there were various spots where it got as low as 35 and 37. Most of the cranberry men were out looking after their growing crops.

John Bengert, owner of the Belvidere farm in the town of Sikel, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune office on Monday. Mr. Bengert is enjoying a visit from his brother who resides in Oklahoma and whom he had not seen for twenty-five years. After his visit here Mr. Bengert will go to England where he will visit relatives for a time.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK OPENS JULY FIFTH

The postal savings department of the Grand Rapids office will be opened for business on Wednesday, July 5, at which time all of the necessary paraphernalia will be on hand for the new order of things.

A government inspector who has charge of this branch of the work was in the city on Monday giving the final instructions to Postmaster McDonald and his assistants, so that when the new order of things is inaugurated it is not expected that there will be a hitch in the working of things.

The rules governing the deposit of money are very simple, so that even a child can understand them. The smallest amount that can be deposited is 10 cents, and upon a person depositing this sum a card is given to him on which there are places to stick ten stamps, or one dollar in all. This card is transferable, but when it is filled with a dollar's worth of stamps the postmaster issues a certificate and takes up the card and cancels it. The certificate is not transferable and can only be cashed by the depositor, or his heirs, in case of death.

The amount that can be deposited in any one month by a person is limited to $100, and the amount in a year is limited to $500. The government pays 2 per cent on the deposits and when a depositor has $100 on deposit in any exchange it for a government bond, which bears interest at 4 1/2 per cent.

Where the postal savings banks have been established elsewhere they have proven quite popular, and there is no reason why the local bank should not also be a good thing.

$1,000 Bonus for a Good Road

The annual good roads contest for roads leading out of Reedburg is now on and ended on Saturday. For several years the Reedburg Industrial Association has raised a fund of $1,000 to be given as a bonus to the farmers living on the various roads leading from that city who would subscribe to the largest sums in cash and labor to be donated for use on the public roads in addition to the sum raised by the towns. This year the real contest was between the "East road," the "Locustville road," the latter road winning by $132. The farmers living along this road subscribed $2,382 in work and cash and will receive the $1,000 bonus offered by the business men of Reedburg. To this sum will be added $2,000 raised by the town of Reedburg, $200 contributed by the county and about $1,000, the apportionment of the state. These sums, when added to the money already raised for this road, will complete nine miles of excellent macadam road, connecting Reedburg with Loganville.

A Battle Royal.

No one can afford to miss the big game of baseball that is to be played here next Sunday between Stevens Point and Grand Rapids. The local team has been greatly strengthened and there is no question as to this being a fight for blood. Rumor, the great left hand pitcher of Oshkosh state league has been hired by the local club and will pitch the rest of the season. We cannot support this fast team without the help of every fan. Turn out.

Games called at 2:30 sharp so as to allow the Stevens Point boys to return on the 6:30 train.

Grand Rapids will play at Stevens Point on Tuesday, July 4th.

Notice.

—On and after July the 1st we will be open only on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings. The other evenings our office will be closed. We have installed an early and late laundry chute so customers finding the laundry closed can put their name on the package and drop it in the chute, and we will do the rest.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

County Clerk Fred Eberhardt issued a marriage license the past week to Michael Zabawa of this city and Miss Katherine Gopres of the town of Sigel.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Francher of Racine are visiting at the Chas. Kellogg home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Witter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Wend, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Grogins, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Redford and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Babcock were in Waupaca on Monday where they attended the bankers meeting held in that city. Mr. Grogins addressed the meeting on the communitarian form of government.

The city teamsters have been at work on Eighth street south of the fair grounds during the past week. A part of the sand has been removed from the surface and the roadway will be filled in with clay. There were several blocks there that had been in deplorable condition for several years past and the improvement will be greatly appreciated by those who have to use the road.

An Eventful Trip.

Louis Goodness met with an accident on Thursday, while driving home from Friendship in his auto, having taken a traveling man down to Friendship that afternoon. When a few miles this side of Friendship and while passing over a particularly bad and slippery place of road near the Roche Creek, his auto jumped the broken track and in trying to get back the forward axle was badly sprung.

Louis got out and after looking the situation over he decided that he was lucky to be alive. He walked to Big Lake, which was some distance away, and securing the services of a team and a driver, he got out the auto and by working all night Thursday got it straightened out. When an attempt was made to get the machine onto the road by the aid of a team the axle was again sprung.

The defective part was brought to this city and fast up and Mr. Goodness went down on Sunday and brought the car home. Louis once again wears his home winning smile, married just a trifle, however, by a multiplicity of misadventure which he acquired while working in the creek bottom. Louis says that he had supposed that he knew all about automobiles before this experience, but he finds that he had never really had anything to do with them heretofore.

Mrs. E. T. Harmon, who has been visiting her relatives in this city for the past two weeks, left for her home in Milwaukee on Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Altkind of Milwaukee are in the city guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Toneyek. They expect to remain here about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex LaPointe and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wilhelm of Marshfield spent several hours in the city on Sunday taking in the sight-seeing down in Mr. LaPointe's auto.

Washington dispatches to the effect that the Wood County National Bank, Grand Rapids, Wis., has been made a Depository by the United States Government for Postal Savings Deposits.

Alfred Kewin of Bank Rapids, Minn., who is employed in assisting to install the electrical work in the new paper mill at Mesquite, spent Sunday in the city visiting with his parents.

Victor E. Thompson will attend summer school in Madison during the next month, having left for there on Saturday. Mrs. Thompson will visit relatives at Manitowish, Mich., during the interval.

Mrs. P. Walsh of Eagle River, who had been visiting her friends in this city for some time past, left for her home on Saturday. She was accompanied by her son, Attorney Walsh, of Grand.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Bratton of Randolph were in the city on Friday on a shopping expedition. Mr. Bratton reports that there never was a time during his long residence in the town when crops promised better than they do this year.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Mullon of St. Louis, Mo., arrived in the city on Monday for a three weeks visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mullon. Mr. Mullon reports that the season has been very dry about St. Louis so far, and that many of the early crops were rather light.

Miss Lillian Rotchel, who has been teaching at Jeannette, Louisiana, arrived home last week to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rotchel. Miss Rotchel, who has been a student at the Milwaukee Normal, is also home for the summer.

Anton Urbanowski, who has been located at Oakley for some time past, where he has been with the Oakley Dredging Co., has gone to Portland, Oregon, where he has accepted a foremanship in a concern.

Mr. Urbanowski was married about three weeks ago, a fact which some of his friends here may not know.

Charles Klovne, secretary of the Seneca-Sigel and Randolph Insurance Company, was a business caller at the Tribune office on Monday. He reports that the company has had eleven losses from lightning this spring, all of which, however, were small, so that the aggregate amounted to only about eleven hundred dollars.

Oscar Mortrud, formerly of this city, but now of Bloomington, spent Saturday and Sunday in this city visiting with friends. Mr. Mortrud conducted a photograph studio while here, but is now engaged in the mercantile business. He says he can notice many nice improvements to this city every time he comes here.

Ben Hansen returned the latter part of last week from the northern peninsula of Michigan where he had been buying potatoes for the Starke Company. Mr. Hansen says that old potatoes are about cleaned up now, and all the new ones are coming in, and he does not think there will be anything more doing until the new crop comes in. He reports that the crop north of here are looking just as good as they do in this section.

One of the most popular places in the city since the hot weather started is the swimming beach near the Green Bay bridge. If a decent place were created for the use of the public at that point it would be used even more than it is now and a few dollars expended by the city might be well placed. Many people would be willing to pay a small fee for a place where they could dress in seclusion and be sure that their clothes were protected while in the water.

Prayer, scripture reading and a hymn will in future open each session of the LaSalle, Kan., city council, over which the new mayor, Peter W. Jory, will preside. Mayor Jory is a devout church worker and he intends that the councilmen shall not set an example for piety as well as for pro-gressiveness. LaSalle then will not acquire the distinction of being the only city in the United States where sessions of the city council are opened with religious services.

Will Nobles, who has been attending law school at Valparaiso, Ind., and from which institution he graduated last week, arrived home on Friday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nobles. Will has not decided just where he will hang out his shingle as yet, and will take some time to look about him.

Quite a little bit of excitement was created on the street late Saturday night by a report being circulated that a dead man was lying near the Ellis Lumber Co.'s office. Upon investigation by Officer Wm. Berg, it turned out to be a "dead drunk," and he was looked up in the cooler over night, being allowed to return to Biron the next morning where he is employed.

John Bell Jr. and Chas. W. Road returned on Monday from the vicinity of New Orleans, where they had been to look over a drainage proposition. They found the conditions quite favorable and it is probable that they will build a dredge and make a contract for a piece of the work in that locality. Mr. Bell brought back with him a young alligator which has since been on exhibition in the Johnson & Hill window.

F. X. Grode of Nekeos recently sold out his barber shop and cigar business and has purchased an interest in the wholesale business of Lave & Co. of Milwaukee, one of the oldest barber supply houses in the northwest and will take a position with the company as salesman on the road, having for his territory Wisconsin and northern Michigan. Mr. Grode intends to make Nekeos his home and will start out on his new job July 1st.

Attorney Geo. P. Hambrecht has been interesting himself in the matter of having our local band play at the state fair again this fall, and while no bands have as yet been engaged by the officers of the association, he has received assurances that the application from the local band will be given due consideration. The members expect to be in good shape at the time of the fair, so that if they secure the job they will be able to deliver the goods.

The Tomahawk Chautauqua.

In this week's issue of The Tribune will be found a complete outline of the program of Tomahawk Chautauqua. There is certainly a lot of excellent talent to appear. We are assured that the less-known names on the program are of the same quality as the others. They have been engaged for that reason and are now making their reputation.

The musical and entertainment companies can not be adequately described. Their reputation as Chautauqua entertainers on a big scale is of the highest class. For instance, the "Cassidy Square Entertainers" (vaudeville men from Castle Square Theatre, New York) use four kinds of instruments in their act, besides piano, and whistling solo, and singing and readings. The members of this movement are reliable and are under strictest rather than exaggerated quality of the attractions. There is always more of high quality entertainment, instruction and inspiration than can be had elsewhere. The best attraction have been engaged. Camping site and facilities are the best imaginable. A good dining hall will be conducted on the grounds. Prices the same as usual, good meals for 25 cents.

CRUISING PARTY HERE FROM FT. LAUDERDALE.

Danania, (Fla.) Gazette.—L. L. Dodge, wife and little daughter, Helen and Mr. Dodge's brother-in-law, Wm. Holly, are in the city for a couple of weeks' visit with Mr. Dodge's mother, Mrs. B. K. Pratt, of Jay street, having arrived from Fort Lauderdale last Saturday in the outfitting, Margorio M., which Messrs. Dodge and Holly conduct as a party boat during the winter season. Mrs. Frank Strambach accompanied them to this city but returned to Fort Lauderdale by train Tuesday night. From this place Mr. Dodge and party will cruise northward for a time. The Margorio M. is a comfortable boat 43 feet in length and 16 feet beam and is propelled by a 16 horse power Globe engine.

The Same Old Charley.

Charles S. Nowlan, the druggist, who formerly lived in this city and was notorious for his faculty in getting asked up in his neighborhood escapes, now lives at Madison, where he is engaged in the drug business. It is apparent that the advancing years have not made a great deal of difference in Charley's luck, as may be judged from the following item from the Melton Press:

Chas. Nowlan had a bad mixing with his pony last Thursday night while riding on River street. The horse stepped on Charley's leg and he standing there Charley over his head. Outside of Charley's face being injured some he escaped with a good shaking up.

Want Another Train.

The following article from the Wausau Record-Herald is timely and voices the sentiment of most all Morill people as it does, too, of those residing elsewhere along the Wisconsin valley:

"Since the summer schedule on the C. M. & St. P. railway has been in force, the question has been frequently asked: 'Is the company endeavoring to take care of its summer tourist business, to the neglect of its regular all-the-year-around Wisconsin Valley business?' The principal change to which people living in the valley object is in the schedule of the north bound train in the morning. Formerly this train went through Wausau at 8:55, leaving Grand Rapids about 7 o'clock, now it leaves Grand Rapids about 1:15, and passes through Wausau at 6:35. Therefore, if Grand Rapids people desire to come to Wausau, they must either come up the night before or else get up in the middle of the night.

"The day train, going south at 10:30 and north at 7:50, are always crowded, and no parlor or cafe car service is given on either of them. Wausau deservs, and should have another train, going north at ten or eleven o'clock in the morning and south at four or five o'clock in the afternoon. This train should run from New Lisbon to Merrill or Tomahawk and return, and would receive good patronage. It might connect at Junction City with trains on the Soo line, north and south, and at New Lisbon with trains on the main Milwaukee line, north and south, thus giving valley people a much better service.

"The Wausau Merchants' association is going to make an effort to have the service on the Milwaukee road improved, and is going to ask like organizations in other cities in the valley to assist in the good work. If the company gives no heed to the requests, an appeal will be made to the state railroad commission.

"The C. M. & St. P. R. Co. company cannot afford to neglect its regular business in the valley for the sake of getting two months' trade to summer tourists."

Of Interest to Autoists

Of the four bills which have been drawn by the state licensing and regulation of automobiles, one has been passed in regard to the annual fee.

It bills the annual plan to tax autos according to horse power has been abandoned, and the rate has been set at $10. The tax will be $6 for automobiles and $2 for motor cycles.

One problem which arose was the disposition of the proceeds of the tax. The pending bill designs on that three-fourths shall go to the county for highway improvement, while the remaining one-fourth will go to the state fund for highway aid.

Spot limit is fixed at 15 in an hour in cities and 25 in country roads.

The next act at the Methodist church next Friday evening by "The Old School Sixty-two" will be one of the best. The company comes very highly recommended. See advertisement for price.

Scandinavian Moravian Church.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet on Friday afternoon, June 30 with Mrs. Ed. White, corner Butler street and Third Ave. N.

English confirmation services will be held on Sunday morning. These services will be followed by the celebration of the Holy Communion in English and the reception of members into the congregation. Those who will be confirmed are: Owen Marks, Nina Rocksted, Anna Hanson, Louise Hanson and Nellie Beckerman.

Charles Klove, secretary of the Seacoe-Sigel and Randolph Insurance Company, was a business caller at the Tribune office on Monday. He reports that the company has had eleven losses from lightning this spring, all of which, however, were small, so that the aggregate amounted to only about eleven hundred dollars.

Oscar Mortrud, formerly of this city, but now of Bloomington, spent Saturday and Sunday in this city visiting with friends. Mr. Mortrud conducted a photograph studio while here, but is now engaged in the mercantile business. He says he can notice many nice improvements to this city every time he comes here.

Ben Hansen returned the latter part of last week from the northern peninsula of Michigan where he had been buying potatoes for the Starke Company. Mr. Hansen says that old potatoes are about cleaned up now, and also he secured several carloads, and he does not think there will be anything more doing until the new crop comes in. He reports that the crops north of here are looking just as good as they do in this section.

One of the most popular places in the city since the hot weather started is the swimming beach near the Green Bay bridge. If a decent place were erected for the use of the public at that point it would be used even more than it is now and a few dollars expenditure by the city might be well placed. Many people would be willing to pay a small fee for a place where they could dress in seclusion and be sure that their clothes were protected while in the water.

Prayer, scripture reading and a hymn will in future open each session of the LaHarpe, Kan., city council, over which the new mayor, Peter W. Jury, will preside. Mayor Jury is a devout church worker and he intends that the councilman shall set an example for piety as well as for progressiveness. LaHarpe thus will acquire the distinction of being the only city in the United States where sessions of the city council are opened with religious services.

Will Nobles, who has been attending law school at Milwaukee, and from which institution he graduated last week, arrived home on Friday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nobles. Will has not decided just where he will hang out his shingle as yet, and will take some time to look about him.

Quite a little bit of excitement was created on the street last Saturday night by a report being circulated that a dead man was lying near the Ellis Lumber Co's office. Upon investigation by Officer Wm. Berg it turned out to be a "dead drunk," and he was locked up in the cooler over night, being allowed to return to Birn the next morning where he is employed.

John Bell Jr. and Chas. W. Rood returned on Monday from the vicinity of New Orleans, where they had been to look over a drainage proposition. They found the conditions quite favorable and it is probable that they will build a dredge and make a contract for a piece of the work in that locality. Mr. Bell brought back with him a young alligator which has since been on exhibition in the Johnson & Hill window.

P. N. Grode of Nekeosa recently sold out his barber shop and cigar business and has purchased an interest in the wholesale business of Lowe & Co. of Milwaukee, one of the oldest barber supply houses in the northwest and will take a position with the company as salesman on the road, having for his territory Wisconsin and northern Michigan. Mr. Grode intends to make Nekeosa his home and will start out on his new job July 1st.

Attorney Geo. P. Hambrecht has been interesting himself in the matter of having our local band play at the state fair again this fall, and while no bands have as yet been engaged by the officers of the association, he has received assurances that the application from the local band will be given due consideration. The members expect to be in good shape at the time of the fair, so that if they secure the job they will be able to deliver the goods.

SOLVING NEGRO PROBLEM

Under Conditions, the Matter Seemed Comparatively Easy of Arrangement.

The central police station was crowded one day last week. Officers were wondering what they would do should another arrest be made, when the door opened and a young-looking, blue-eyed foreigner drifted in with a most dejected "Gut-ting me!"

The officers added their greetings to the stranger, who then asked: "Can I do some shopping here?" "Just come from Chicago and am just to work tomorrow."

"Well, the only spare we have left is a bunk, which is already occupied by a colored man. You can share that if you want to," replied the officer.

The man thought for a few minutes, scratched his head and said:

"Well, I guess I can do that in the dark, and besides I am tired and want sleep." Milwaukee Wisconsin.

FREED FROM SKIN DISEASE

Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 13, 1908 and when three months old a white rash appeared on his chest. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, leaving new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of scales and you could not see a patch of clear skin. Other parts of his body were affected, but not to such an extent. We tried every advertised remedy without avail, indeed some of them only added to his suffering and pain. At last, the doctor, after a further trial, told us to try Cuticura. We tried Cuticura and after a few days the rash disappeared. We then used Cuticura Soap for babies. The doctor said his work was done. But the very next day it broke out as bad as ever.

"We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we let him be. He grew handsomer and his skin became clear. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, the Cuticura Remedies were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. You would not think that the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return this time. We still use only Cuticura Soap for babies. Robert Mann, Proctor, Minn., May 3, 1910."

WANTED TO SLEEP

Curious That a Third Preacher Should Have Such Desire.

A minister speaks of the curious effect of Grape-Nuts food on him and how it has relieved him of his insomnia.

"You will doubtless understand how the suffering from indigestion with which I used to be troubled made my work an almost unbearable burden; and why it was that after my Sabbath duties had been performed, sleep was a stranger to my pillow till nearly daylight."

"I had to be very careful as to what I ate, and even with all my care I experienced poignant physical distress after meals, and my food never satisfied me."

"Since I began the use of Grape-Nuts the benefits I have derived from it are very definite, I no longer suffer from indigestion, and I began to improve from the time Grape-Nuts appeared on our table."

"I find that by eating a dish of this food after my Sabbath work is done, and I always do so now, my nerves are quieted and rest and refreshing sleep are ensured me."

"I feel that I could not possibly do without Grape-Nuts food, now that I know its value. It is invariably on the table—we feel that we need it to make the meal complete and our children will eat Grape-Nuts when they cannot be persuaded to touch anything else." THE FLAG OF THE FOURTH OF JULY

By I. C. Harbaugh

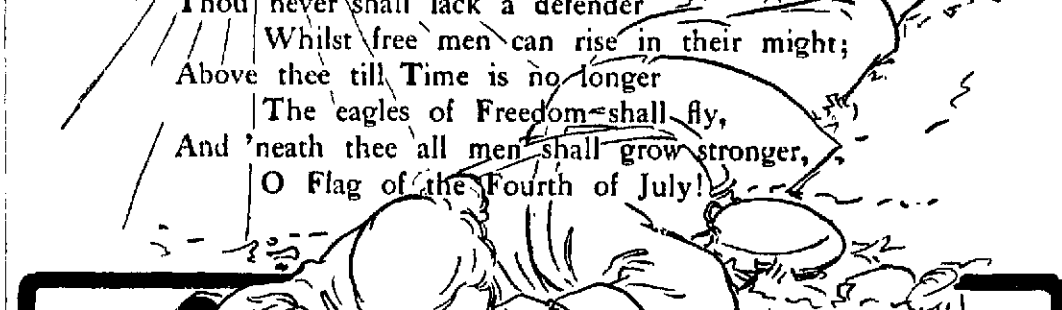

O banner of beauty and glory,
O flag of a Nation that's free!
Crowned ever with song and with story,
A force on the land and the sea,
Unfurled by our fathers before us,
Thy stars and thy stripes shining o'er us,
Enhallow the Fourth of July.

O emblem of free men's devotion,
Baptized in the blood of the brave,
How oft on the turbulent ocean
Thou hast laughed at the wind and the wave,
By Washington great to us given,
When men deemed it honor to die,
Thou'rt come to his children untriven,
The Flag of the Fourth of July.

Borne once by the old Continentals,
When the bugles of Brandywine blew,
Thy stars o'er their torn regimentals,
At Trenton and Yorktown immortal,
Where Victory rode in the sky,
They planted at Liberty's portal,
The Flag of the Fourth of July.

The fame of a Nation is 'round thee,
The love of a People is thine,
We bless the true spirits that found thee,
And gave us a standard divine;
No more shall the battle swords sever
The sections that see thee on high,
Love crowns thee forever and ever,
The Flag of the Fourth of July.

O emblem enlaureled with splendor,
And bathed in God's holiest light,
Thou never shalt lack a defender,
Whilst free men can rise in their might;
Above thee till Time is no longer
The eagles of Freedom shall fly,
And 'neath thee all men shall grow stronger,
O Flag of the Fourth of July!

A MARVELOUS RECOVERY.

How a Chronic Invalid Regained Perfect Health.

Mrs. Ray Truesner, 30 West Third St., New Albany Ind., says "Kidney disease had rendered me a chronic invalid. I lay in bed unable to move hand or foot. My right limb was swollen to twice normal size. I looked the picture of death and my case puzzled the doctors. The kidney secretions were highly colored and acrid, and I was unable to urinate. Marked improvement followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In six weeks I was a well woman. My friends and relatives marvel at my recovery."

A Heartless Father.

"I need some help with my household duties," announced a woman when her husband came home the other night.

"What's the matter with our daughter?" the husband wanted to know.

"Our daughter? The ideal! Why, Jim, you know she's awfully delicate, and she would die if she had to do any household work. She has her school, and—"

"And what? Her teacher's report shows that she isn't doing a bit of school work?"

"But she is the dear member of her basketball team, and you know she was to take the prize at the gymnasium contest. But that's just like a man—wanting a delicate girl to engage in rough, hard labor! I'm ashamed of yourself, Jim! Don't! You have no feeling."

"The Bard of Odon."

Rev. George F. Culmer, "the bard of Odon," celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday yesterday. Rev. Mr. Culmer was born May 22, 1825, in Kent, England, during the reign of George Frederick (George IV.), for whom he was named. At the time of his birth King Quincy Adams was president of the United States.

Dr. Culmer has been a minister for many years in the Methodist Episcopal church until his advanced age made it necessary for him to retire. He is a scholar and writer. Many of his poems have been published in magazines and newspapers—Washington Correspondence Indianapolis News.

Couldn't See the Resemblance.

"They have been joking Assistant Treasurer James A. Mathews of the Guardian bank, on his resemblance to President Taft, and Mr. Mathews has steadily refused to be annoyed thereby. So the jokers subsided and the joke died a natural death.

Until the other night, when Mr. and Mrs. Mathews dined together with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon and their little daughter, when the Taft resemblance was revived. Turning to young Miss Harmon, Mr. Mathews asked whether she, too, thought he looked like the president.

Brushing aside the question earnestly, then she answered:

"Not in the face, Uncle Jim."

He Got the Pass.

"I want a pass."

"Pass? You're not entitled to a pass. You are not an employee. Sorry."

"No; but here the anti-pass law says free transportation can be granted to necessary caretakers of live stock, poultry and fruit. Well, I'm going on this trip with an aunt that's a hen—there's your poultry; a girl that's a peach—there's your fruit; and a nephew that's a mule—there's your live stock. Gimme a pass."

The Way-Hill.

The Worth of the Voice.

How wonderful is the human voice! It is indeed the organ of the soul! The intellect of man sits enthroned visibly upon his forehead and in his eye, and the heart of man is written upon his countenance. But the soul reveals itself in the voice only, as God revealed himself to the prophet of old in the still, small voice, and in the voice from the burning bush. The soul of man is audible, not visible. A sound alone betrays the flowing of the eternal fountains invisible to man.

The Kaiser Likes the Bible.

The Kaiser is a great reader, and while he tries to keep himself abreast of current events, his favorite book is the Bible, says the London Chronicle. A well-thumbed and marked copy is always by his bedside. When Mr. Roosevelt visited Berlin last year, the Kaiser made him a present of a number of books. About half of them related to theology and the others to military subjects. These two classes indicate the Kaiser's own preferences.

Historic Event Celebrated.

Australia recently commemorated the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of Captain Cook's first landing. It was in 1770 that H. M. S. Endeavour, a bark of 370 tons, entered the inlet first called Sting Rays Harbor, but afterwards Botany Bay, from the beauty and variety of the plants growing about its shore. The vessel remained eight days, and before she left the British flag was hoisted. As is the custom on each recurring anniversary, the flag was again unfurled upon the spot where it was first displayed, and was saluted by the guns of the warships in the harbor.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can truly talk of her private illness to a woman; that has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken.

Each woman who writes to Mrs. Pinkham receives a testimonial or such a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the thousands of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

HAD BEEN SILENT SUFFERER

Subordinate Officer the Recipient of Hints Intended for his Superior.

A sea captain's wife tells this story of a mad woman, sister of one of the owners of the ship on which she once made a long voyage. She had very decided opinion on most matters, and she said the captain had many repeated arguments of the driver table.

The captain's wife, a weak, sensitive little soul, finding that in the heat of argument her husband might say something to offend this august passenger, was in the habit of kicking him on the shin to hint at moderation. Nevertheless, all these reminders passed unheeded.

One day she administered a more vigorous kick than usual, and noticed an expression of pain flash across the face of the mate, who sat opposite her.

"Oh, Mr. Brown, was that your shin?" she asked.

"Yes, Mrs. Blakely," said the mate, meekly, "it's been my shin all the voyage, ma'am.—You're a Companion."

"Flamme de Vesuvius—flame of Vesuvius," the actress answered.

"The Vesuvius," said Mr. Ade, "you make a very pretty crater."

Intimate Letter.

When Blakely was away from home on a long business trip, he got a letter from his wife that still puzzles him. It ended thus:

"Baby is well and lots brighter than she used to be. Hoping you are the same, I remain, your loving wife.—Everybody's."

Some Day Ask Your Physician

To tell you the curious story of how the mind affects the digestion of food.

I refer to the condition the mind is in, just before, at the time, or just following the taking of food.

If he has been properly educated (the majority have) he will help you understand the curious machinery of digestion.

To start you thinking on this interesting subject, I will try to lay out the plan in a general way and you can then follow into more minute details.

Pavlov (pronounced Pavlof) a famous Russian Physician and Chemist, experimenting on some dogs, cut into the tube leading from the throat to the stomach.

They were first put under chloroform or some other anesthetic and the operation was painless. They were kept for months in very good condition.

When quite hungry and unappetizing food was placed before them and, although hunger forced them to eat, it was shown by analysis of the contents of the stomach that little if any of the digestive juices were found.

Then, in contrast, some raw meat was put where they couldn't reach it at once, and a little time allowed for the minds of the dogs to "anticipate" and create an appetite.

When the food was finally given them, they devoured it ravenously and with every evidence of satisfaction. The food was passed out into a dish through the opening before it reached the stomach. It was found to be mixed with "Pavlov's" alkaline juice of the mouth, which is important for the first step in digestion. Then an analysis was made of the contents of the stomach, into which no food had entered. It was shown that the digestive fluids of stomach were flowing freely, exactly as if the desirable food had entered.

This proved that it was not the presence of food which caused the digestive juices to flow, but the flow was caused entirely and alone as a result of the action of the mind,

SOLVING NEGRO PROBLEM

Under Conditions, the Matter Seemed Comparatively Easy of Arrangement.

The central police station was over-crowded one day last week. Officers were wondering what they would do when another arrest was made, when the door opened and a sleeping, black-eyed foreigner drifted in with a most dejected "Good evening, ma'am."

"The officers nodded their greetings to the stranger, who then asked: 'Can I do some sleeping here?' 'Yes, come from Chicago and am start to work tomorrow.'"

"Well, the only space we have left is in a bunk, which is already occupied by a colored man. You can share that if you want to," replied the officer.

"The man thought for a few minutes, scratched his head and said: 'Well, I guess I can see him in the dark, and besides I am tired and want sleep.'—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

FREED FROM SKIN DISEASE

"Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 13, 1908, and when three months old a skin rash appeared on his cheeks. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of sores and you could not see a particle of clear skin. Other parts of his body were so affected that he could not lie down without crying every fifteen minutes without avail. Indeed some of them only added to his suffering and one in particular, the bottom, almost put the infant into convulsions. The family doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in hot milk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital. He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and he got worse. If anything, we then called in another doctor and fastid of a week the boy was, to all appearances, cured and the doctor said his work was done. But the very next day it broke out as bad as ever."

"We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, Minn., our son was recommended to a certain Dr. Cullen, who had cured a number of cases in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. You would not think he was the same child for Cullen made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return this time. We sell the only Cullen's Skin Cure for baby's bath. Robert Mann, Proctor, Minn., May 3, 1910."

WANTED TO SLEEP

Curious That a Tired Preacher Should Have Such Desire.

A minister speaks of the curious effect of Grape-Nuts food on him and how it has relieved him.

"You will doubtless understand how the suffering from indigestion with which I used to be troubled made my work an almost unendurable burden, and why it was that after my Sabbath duties had been performed, sleep was a stranger to my pillow till nearly daylight."

"I had to be very careful as to what I ate, and even with all my care I experienced poignant physical distress after meals, and my food never satisfied me."

"Since I began the use of Grape-Nuts the benefits I have derived from it are very definite, I no longer suffer from indigestion, and I began to improve from the time Grape-Nuts appeared on our table."

"I find that by eating a dish of this food after my Sabbath duties are done, (and I always do so now) my nerves are quieted and rest and refreshing sleep are ensured me."

"I feel that I could not possibly do without Grape-Nuts food, now that I know its value. It is invariably on my table—we feel it we need it to make the meal complete and when they cannot be persuaded to touch anything else."

FORESTRY FUND IS CUT BY ASSEMBLY

REDUCES APPROPRIATION FOR THE PURCHASE OF LANDS BY $1,750,000.

NORTHERNERS HELP IN TRIM

Charge Made That Conservationists Would Kill Prey to Timber Barons in Taking Up Lands, Much Being Declared Worthless.

Madison.—The assembly chopped $1,750,000 from the proposed $25,000,000 appropriation to the state forestry fund for purchase of lands for reforestation. The bill, in its present form, provides for an annual appropriation of $500,000 each year for five years. As it left the senate it provided for an annual appropriation of $250,000 for ten years. In the fight against the large appropriation, representatives of the northern districts were prominent, practically all of them taking the floor in support of the trimming operation.

Assemblyman Spear of Green Lake county offered an amendment substituting $50,000 for $250,000 in the clause appropriating money for the purchase of forest reserve lands. Assemblyman O'Day, Ellingson, Hull, Koenig and Kay and Speaker C. A. Ferguson joined in support of this amendment.

Their arguments centered chiefly upon the quality of the land which the state already has purchased for forest reserve purposes. Speaker Ferguson said that the whole proposition of forest reforestation offers an unexcelled opportunity to the timber companies in the northern counties to acquire the best land upon the state. The amendment was adopted, 57 to 19.

Assemblyman Hecox's amendment increasing the appropriation from $50,000 to $100,000 was voted down. Assemblyman Stevens' amendment limiting the annual appropriation to five years instead of ten was then adopted after Mr. Stevens had tried in vain to withdraw it.

Assemblyman Hull sought to secure the adoption of an amendment limiting to 31 the number of acres of forest land. This was rejected, it being argued that the board should be free to purchase the best possible land.

Assemblyman Hull moved to kill the whole bill but his motion failed 49 to 23 and the bill was sent to enactment.

AUTO DRIVER MEETS DEATH

Walter Donnelly Killed When Machine Crashes Into Fence During 50-Mile Race at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee.—Concealed from the spectators by the dust that blinded him, Walter Donnelly, driver of Clio car No. 15, was hurled to his death at the state fair park, when his car crashed through the fence at the three-quarter post, at the "death turn," it was just as he rounded the north turn of the track on the forty-lap of the fifty-mile race, after driving a quarter of a mile with a flat tire, that Donnelly lost control of the big racing machine. Had he but listened to the warning of death when a rear tire exploded at the half-mile post he would have come through all right. In the excitement, however, he did not heed the warning and refused to slow down.

The machine tore down thirty feet of the fence and was hurled fifty feet from the track. The upper fence rail struck Donnelly square in the forehead, fracturing his skull in two places. He died in a hospital an hour later. Donnelly's wife and little son witnessed the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Hishka and daughter were returning from Hishka's tailor shop and were about to enter the house when the aged man stepped from behind a clump of bushes and brandishing a revolver fired several shots. The second bullet pierced Mrs. Hishka in the heart and her death was instantaneous.

THE FLAG of the FOURTH of JULY.

O banner of beauty and glory!
O flag of a Nation that's free!
Crowned ever with song and with story,
Unfurled by our fathers before us,
When the tide of the battle ran high,
Thy stars and thy stripes shining o'er us,
Enhallow the Fourth of July.

O emblem of free men's devotion
Baptized in the blood of the brave,
How oft on the turbulent ocean
Thou hast laughed at the wind and the wave,
By Washington great to us given,
When men deemed it honor to die,
Thou'st come to his children untriven,
The Flag of the Fourth of July.

Borne once by the old Continentals
When the bugles of Brandywine blew,
Thy stars o'er their torn regimentals
Lost none of their glorious hue;
At Trenton and Yorktown immortal,
Where Victory rode in the sky,
They planted at Liberty's portal
The Flag of the Fourth of July!

The fame of a Nation is 'round thee,
The love of a People is thine,
We bless the true spirits that found thee
And gave us a standard divine;
No more shall the battle swords sever
The sections that see thee on high,
Love crowns thee forever and ever
The Flag of the Fourth of July.

O emblem enlaureled with splendor
And bathed in God's holiest light!
Thou never shall lack a defender
Whilst free men can rise in their might;
Above thee till Time is no longer
The eagles of Freedom shall fly,
And 'neath thee all men shall grow stronger,
O Flag of the Fourth of July!

It has been a matter of some speculation, and frequently a subject of inquiry, as to the origin of the American flag—whence came the idea of the stars and stripes.

By examining the illustrious pedigree of the Washington family, it will be perceived at once that George Washington's coat-of-arms furnishes the idea and ground work for the present flag of our country, which his generalship entitled her to wear, and rendered independent of the flag of St. George.

The pedigree of General Washington carries back descent to William Hertburn, lord of the manor of Washington, in the county of Durham, England.

From him descended John Washington of Whitfield, in the time of Richard III., and ninth in descent from said John was George, the first president of the United States. The mother of John Washington, who emigrated to Virginia in 1657, and who was great grandmother to the general, was Eleanor Hastings, granddaughter to Francis, second earl of Huntington.

She was the descendant, through Lady Huntington, of George, duke of Clarence, brother of King Edward IV., and King Richard III., by Isabel Neville, daughter and heiress of Richard, earl of Warwick.

Washington, therefore, as well as the descendants of that marriage, are entitled to quarter the arms of Hastings; Torte, earl of Salisbury; Plantagenet; Mortimer, earl of March; Neville, Montague, Beauchamp and Devereux.

The pedigree, which is full and accurate in regard to dates, gives as it were an epitome of the family. In the old original it is surrounded by a border, ornamented by the shield of arms impaled and impaled by the different ancestors in right of their wives, as well as some of the quarterings borne by their descendants. The coat-of-arms of the first John Washington was composed of three stars and stripes. As to colors, they are the union or impaling of the Plantagenets with the house of Lancaster.

George Washington was entitled, by virtue of his traditional custom—not law in this country—to use his cognizance upon a flag in the army which he commanded; and thus the first national flag ever made and used by America was composed of three stars and three stripes, which those who at once recognize as the proper colors of the general-in-chief of the revolutionary army—the flag of Washington.

Since then an increase of the original number has somewhat obscured its parentage, and many are not aware that this original, from the legitimate ancestral bearings of the father of his country, the flag which has cost so many lives to maintain.

The Kaiser Likes the Bible.
The Kaiser is a great reader, and while he tries to keep himself abreast of current events, his favorite book is the Bible, says the London Chronicle. A well-thumbed and marked copy is always by his bedside. When Mr. Roosevelt visited Berlin last year, the Kaiser made him a present of a number of books. About half of them were referred to theology and the others to military subjects. These two classes indicate the Kaiser's own preferences.

Historic Event Celebrated.
Australia recently commemorated the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of Captain Cook's first landing. It was in 1770 that H. M. S. Endeavour, a barque of 370 tons, entered the inlet that called itself King's Harbor, but afterwards Botany Bay, from the beauty and variety of the plants growing about its shore. The vessel remained eight days, and before she left the British flag was hoisted. As the custom on each recurring anniversary the flag was again unfurled upon the spot where it was first displayed, and was saluted by the guns of the warships in the harbor.

STORIES OF WALL STREET

At PAR

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

Copyright, by Street & Smith.

THE quiet of the breakfast room was disturbed by the sudden rustle of the paper in West's hands and the pinging of the coffee machine by his wife's elbow.

Prowling slightly in her preoccupation, the woman remarked the silence, and asked him, "It was a part of her daily life—had been a part of it ever since, ten years before, the curtain had fallen upon their honeymoon."

She was accustomed to say that for ten hours of the day, from eight in the morning to six in the evening, Tom West was a mere water-drinking machine, with no end in life save the manipulation of the market, no conception of anything in the world save bank and railway statements, dividends, tickers and the ebb and flow of prices. Afterwards, from 6 p. m. to 8 a. m., he was a normal human being, with almost human interests, including a wife.

Therein she did West justice, and some injustice. In point of fact, the man adored his wife after business hours. But it was most true that he forgot her completely throughout the Wall Street working day. And to that, perhaps, may be attributed his remarkable success in the absolute concentration of his faculties upon the matter in hand; which generally consisted in the "bearing" of some security which other men admired, but which West looked upon with the jaundiced eye of the skeptic confirmed in his pessimism so far as stock values were concerned.

As for his wife, for the time being her thoughts as well as her slim white fingers were busied about the tall copper pot in which the coffee brewed. Now, with a little nod of satisfaction, she placed the extinguisher over the flame of the alcohol lamp, and glanced thoughtfully toward her husband, as though fearful of disturbing him.

Tom West, with his fingers over his eyes, his head bowed, his face visible; rough-featured, blunt-nosed, and with a certain expression of the man's character, as the world saw it. They gripped almost fiercely the edges of the morning paper, which he held outspread so as thoroughly to curtain himself from his wife's gaze. Behind him, the broad brow thrust forward aggressively, his lips set and tense, his gray eyes fairly dancing up and down the scribbled columns of figures, as he—to use his own phrase—tore the heart out of the market report.

The woman gazed upon the fingers with a tenderness glowing deep in her eyes; somehow they suggested to her—very clearly the man she knew so well—that man whom the street reckoned ruthless, but whom she loved with all her being, and who loved her in return with a devotion almost womanish—after business hours again.

Tom West lowered the paper until its upper edge was level with the bridge of his nose. He stared at her absent-mindedly; the creature man was asserting his desire for refreshment, though the business man was lost in a pondering of men and measures. "Coffee ready?" he demanded, and promptly returned his gaze to the list of the previous day's transactions.

"Ready," she replied, quickly and clearly. "Well, Tom," she dropped the indispensable two lumps of sugar into West's cup, added the cream, then brimmed it with the steaming black liquor.

She had anticipated—for she studied the market as keenly as her voice and the stir of the table—were distracted the current of his thoughts. Reluctantly he folded the news sheet, and laid it at the side of his plate, accepted the cup, and began to stir the coffee with his spoon, in a listless, low-spirited, fraction, his eyes gleaming at the particular time.

She forebore to question him; she knew that before long he would begin to talk. Always, ever since she could remember, he had interlarded his breakfast with a one-sided discussion, his ranting comment on the ways of the street, and on the men who happened to be playing therein at the particular time.

And so, inevitably, it came to pass. Presently he dropped the spoon and began to use his fork; and, "Funny thing about Belden," he observed, talking more at, than to, her.

"Yes, funny thing about Belden and myself. We've been fighting tooth and nail for the last five years or so, and now it just happens that we're both hard up at the same time. Coincidence."

"How do you know he is hard up?" "Don't know it," he was looking at her now, and interestedly, but she saw that he had forgotten her. The enthusiasm of logical deduction possessed him thoroughly; his imagination was wrapped with the joy of penetrating a rival operator's secret. He was happily formulating into phrases the tale that yesterday's ticker tape and today's market report had told to him. "Don't know it from Belden's own lips, that is. But he's rigging the market—ballooning Net Common."

"Net Common?" she inquired, puzzled.

"New England Transit, common," he translated, impatiently; "his pot stock. He wants to boost it by wash sales as high as the market will stand, and then he's going to unload at a big profit. He plans to add the Bennington extension to the New England Transit system, and he needs money to buy in the bond issue. Bennington," he continued, as though trying her palm; dry, hard, slightly glazed. His face was a pallid mask, his lips feverish, and dry, and cracked, like a stale crust. Instinctively she knew what was first to be done.

"Ice water!" she demanded, of the servants, as she ripped West's collar from his shirt. "And cracked like a stale crust. Instinctively she knew what was first to be done."

He lay like a log, swathed in blankets, without motion save for the slow, almost imperceptible heave of his stertorous respiration. The woman sat as quietly, tensely strung, as a cat on a fence. She pressed tight against his knuckles. She could not fight but watch, wait and take West's temperature every quarter-hour. "If it goes above one hundred and four," Dexter had told her, "put him in the ice bath again—and send for me."

meaning, to fix it beyond possibility of further decline. But before they had time to make up their minds as to the wisest course to be pursued, Hollwedel, board member of Hollwedel & West, ambly-attentive Net Common with a cunningly-ten thousand shares—which, landing in the midst of it, dealt with four points from the market price. This, in its turn, had the effect of shaking out a large number of stop orders; whereupon the Street in a fit of genuine hysterics, poured forth orders into the Exchange so furiously that the traders were stampeded and glad to get rid of Net Common at any price; and everybody, including Belden and Tausig, were amazed to find that it was worth only one hundred and one.

And then, while this paralytic feeling held, Hollwedel, having deftly covered through other brokers his ten thousand shares, suddenly proclaimed with a loud voice that he had twenty-five thousand Net Common to dispose of.

"You," Belden, whether agreement or long and exhausting work had abruptly been set upon by an ill-tempered person with an ax and a desire for the strong man's life. Net Common dropped like a log—Hollwedel selling and covering and selling again with most reckless activity.

About the New England Transit common the Exchange floor men came post on their efforts to dispose of a stock for which, it seemed, no one had the slightest use in the world. Other securities, and especially the more weak ones, suffered proportionately because of the shock to public confidence. When the big clock in the tower boomed forth the hour of three, a long, low sigh of relief, that was almost a gasp, went up from the nervous Street; Net Common was a-begging at eighty-three.

In the private office of Mr. Belden, of Belden & Tausig, there was gloom. The two partners were limp and unhappy, feeling each other across the desk, and not daring to touch. The paper tape stamped with the details of disaster well-nigh irreparable. Belden's saw-tooth face was dark and forbidding; he kept a dogged silence while he combed the written reports of his lieutenants. Tausig, on the other hand, had lost a great deal of his usual handsome appearance, and he sat with his head buried in his hands, muttering to himself, "I've lost it, I've lost it, I've lost it."

"How do I know?" he asked, Tausig replied by a comprehensive analysis of Thomas West and all his works. Belden said, patiently: "I want West, I tell you; he's out of his head."

"Then who was it?" howled Tausig. Belden shook his head. "Hollwedel sold no more than half a dozen others," he answered. "He sold, he sold, he sold."

Tausig gathered himself together, his big frame shaking with emotion. He waved an impatient fist in the air, and there were tears in his eyes, as he demanded—the one hundred and first time: "Then who the hell was it?"

She had been preparing herself against it for long days, yet it was with a feeling of surprise that Mrs. West saw Hollwedel, who had been behind the door to her husband's bedroom, when he made his first visit of condolence after he had received the news of his partner's misfortune.

He was a heavy man, not unlike Tausig in build, not quite as physically strong as West. He had a shrewd, his appearance belied him. It is conceivable that Tausig, who had mirrored the opinion of the Street, had been mistaken, that there was more in Hollwedel, despite the fact that he never acted on his own initiative; a circumstance for which Hollwedel was accounted with characteristic frankness.

"My judgment's bad," he would explain. "I'm always splitting a pair of openers to draw to a hot-half flush when I follow my own inclination. Now, West's different; seldom flinches. Therefore, I permit him to play the game for the two of us. It's cheaper, that way."

Temporarily Mrs. West was afraid of Hollwedel; the man was frank, and might be counted upon to blurt out things which are preferably left unsaid. She considered him the last man of her acquaintance whom she would select to "break it gently" to anyone else. She was, she thought, she rose to her feet, and she said to her husband: "The two together—futilely, however."

"Mrs. West!" Hollwedel bowed. "Don't go, please," he added, almost pleasantly. And, "Stay with me, dear," West seconded, in a thin, brittle voice.

Perforce she yielded. She cast one lingering glance upon Hollwedel—whom he failed to catch and held down very sedately, folding her hands in her lap and playing with her wedding ring, the while a nervous, diffident smile betrayed her inward agitation. Contrasted, the two men looked big—Belden the conventional, gaunt and lugard though he was, was massive and sturdy, and his face, which he wore so freely, was a study in the features of a woman. Anxiety and the wearying fatigues of long nights had wasted her.

To prove that he was not wholly down and out, West must needs rise from his invalid chair and advance to greet Hollwedel.

"Sit down, old man," he said, "and tell me all about it. You can't know how glad I am to see you. Tell me the truth—I can't get anything out of Bess or Dexter, beyond that it's all right, and that you turned the tables on Belden in great shape. Tell me how you did it."

"Bess?" gasped Hollwedel. He sank into a chair with the air of an astonished elephant; and looked confusedly at Mrs. West.

West's temper was worn thin by days of maddening iteration of the statement that he was too weak to talk about it.

"Don't say 'Eh!'" he cried, peevishly. "Man, I'm starving for news of the Street. Don't act as though—"

Come In and Let Us Explain
The superiority of our clothing. It's hard to convince you through the newspapers. We must get you "face to face" with the goods. then we can demonstrate to you, and in ten minutes we can accomplish more than to write a whole page to you in this paper. You can combine our talk with the merchandise and easily see the different points we call your attention to, then we can both derive some benefit from the demonstration.

July 4th
you will probably want some of these good suits we have in stock for you, and we hope you will come and look them through before buying.

For Breaking Game Laws.
Plaidford News.—Ex Congressman Charles Wefse of Sheldahl Falls was arrested by Sheriff Patheros the latter part of last week on the charge of having in his possession more than 15 trout. His hearing has been set for June 20, and the case will come up before Judge Sorenson at Waupun. The case is being prosecuted by the game warden department and District Attorney Chad Jones and the defense will be handled by Senator Kilham.
The outcome of a case of this character against a man so prominent in the public eye will be awaited with great interest. It will be remembered that the Ex Congressman was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for U. S. Senator last fall.
The new $50,000 Rathschell pavilion at Waupun will be formally opened to the public on Saturday afternoon and evening by Frederick Huns and his famous orchestral band.

Wants $5,000.
Marshfield News.—Ell Crockett of this city has brought suit in circuit court at Grand Rapids against William Baer, also of this city, asking $5,000 damages on account of his daughter, Ha, aged ten years.
This is a personal injury case and may come to trial in September, although Mr. Baer has not as yet made answer to the papers which were first filed.
The case grows out of a proceeding in unadjudged court here recently, in which Mr. Baer pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery upon the little girl and paid a fine of $10 and the costs of the action. It is alleged that Mr. Baer, perhaps with some provocation, although that has not developed, inflicted personal injuries on the Crockett girl in consequence of which she lost a fingernail and had to be taken to Rochester, Minn., for examination by expert surgeons.

There is No Use Talking.
